

Without names · label the map yourself

A map of the Hawaiian Islands archipelago. The main islands, including Hawaii, Maui, Oahu, and Kauai, are colored in a light blue shade. The smaller, more numerous islands to the northwest, including the Line Islands, are colored in a light orange shade. The islands are scattered across the Pacific Ocean, with the main chain trending from the northwest to the southeast.